

Escape to South Greenland (Narsarsuaq area) 29 June (Saturday)-06 July (Saturday) 2019

This trip includes all of the hiking highlights of the Narsarsuaq area. Furthermore, you get to experience first-hand the daily life of the Greenlanders who live in isolated farms and settlements in South Greenland. Within one week, you visit and stay at sheep farms and in two different villages. These are ideal starting points for a wide range of hiking trips, with stunning views of glaciers, green mountainsides and ice-filled fjords. This is self-guided hike.

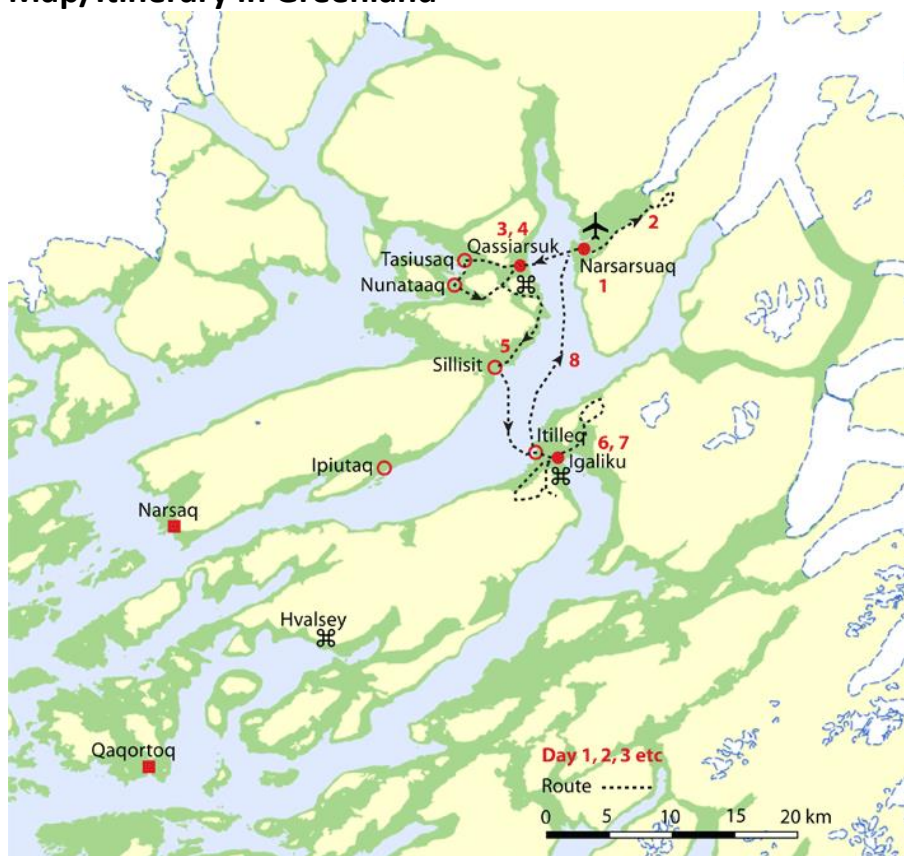

Details: <http://myescapetonature.com/tours/greenland/>

Detailed Itinerary

28 June (Friday)

Flight from London to Reykjavik (Iceland) a night stay in Reykjavik

Map/Itinerary in Greenland

29 June (Saturday) Day 1 in Greenland

Arrival in Narsarsuaq. In the afternoon you can take a little hike to the Signal Hill viewpoint (about 1 hour). From the top you can admire an impressive view of the glacier. Accommodation Narsarsuaq for 2 nights.

30 June (Sunday) Day 2

Day hike to Narsarsuaq Glacier, which is a part of the ice cap and located only 8 km from Narsarsuaq. The hike takes you through the Flower Valley before the trail winds up a 300 m ascent to a plateau that rewards you a magnificent view of the glacier. From here you walk for about half an hour downhill to the glacier, where you can touch the ice. The way back to Narsarsuaq follows the same route.

1 July (Monday) Day 3 Boat transfer to Itilleq, followed by a 4 km hike along the “King’s Road” (named after the Danish King Frederik 9th’s visit in 1952) to Igaliku. Igaliku is one of the most beautiful villages in Greenland! The colourful houses are situated on lush grassland next to a milky-blue fjord. On the other side of the fjord the landmark Illerfissalik (Burfjeld) Mountain towers over a rough and desolate landscape. Accommodation in Igaliku for 2 nights.

2 July (Tuesday) Day 4 Igaliku was the Episcopal seat (named Gardar) for a period of about 300 years (1100-1400) during the Norse era, and the ruins from that time are very impressive. In 1782 Anders Olsen and his Greenlandic wife Tuperna established themselves as farmers and that was the beginning of Igaliku’s more recent history. Today, Igaliku and its surroundings have some of the best hiking opportunities in South Greenland. One optional day hike (17 km) goes to the plateau, which offers a superb view of the Qooroq Ice Fjord, the stranded icebergs on the underwater moraine at the entrance to the fjord and the enormous glacier at the head of the fjord. It is the perfect place for a picnic! On the way back, you may be lucky enough to find minerals and stones, like the shining “moonstone” (labradorite). The “waterfall hike” (about 15 km) is another popular day trip. A set of beautiful waterfalls tumble like pearls on a string down towards Tunulliarfik Fjord. This hike can be combined with the summit of Nuuluk Mountain (823 m), which lies south of Igaliku (20-22 km).

3 July (Wednesday) Day 5 Boat transfer from Itelleq to Sillisit sheep farm.. Sillisit is beautifully located across from the Qooroq Ice Fjord. It is an idyllic spot for an overnight stay that combines a stunning wilderness backdrop with the warm hospitality of a Greenlandic farm family to give you an unforgettable experience. Accommodation at Sillisit farm for 1 night. It is possible to buy a local dinner at the farm (not included and must be ordered in advance).

4 July (Thursday) Day 6 Hike to the settlement of Qassiarsuk The hike is along a gravel road (about 15 km) and your luggage will be transported by car/boat.. Qassiarsuk is also known as Brattahlid, the place where Eric the Red settled in 982. The Norse ruins are well preserved and the open-air museum

(Brattahlid) can be visited on your own (admission fee is not included). The approx. 40 inhabitants earn their livelihoods from sheep farming, but the village also has a school, a shop and a church. Accommodation in Qassiarsuk for 2 nights.

5 July (Friday) Day 7 You can take a day hike to the Tasiusaq sheep farm located on Sermilik fjord. It is a relative easy hike along a gravel road, overlooking an impressive landscape dotted with small, blue lakes. There is a good chance that you can catch a glimpse of white-tailed eagles soaring overhead. From Tasiusaq you follow the sheep track to the neighbouring Nunataaq farm. It is a stunning hike along the Tasiusaq inlet, which is often filled with small ice floes. From Nunataaq you can take another gravel road back to Qassiarsuk. The round trip is about 20 km in total.

6 July (Saturday) Day 8 Boat transfer from to Narsarsuaq. You can spend the rest of your stay enjoying a cup of coffee at the cosy Blue Ice Café and/or visiting the museum in Narsarsuaq. Departure Narsarsuaq.

You can join 1 week or 2-week trip in Iceland, Please ask for details.
I am planning to join 2 weeks overland trip in Iceland from 6-20
June 2019.

7 July (Sunday)

Flight from Reykjavik Keflavik to London

Please note! Due to limited capacity at some accommodations the order of the itinerary may change.

Accommodation

Sleeping bag accommodation at farm and hostel in 4-bed rooms. Bring your own sleeping bag. Rental of sleeping bag with sheet for one week: EUR 28 / DKK 200

Meals

No meals included. Cooking facilities available at all places. You can go shopping in Narsarsuaq, Qassiarsuk and Igaliku. There is a restaurant in Igaliku and Narsarsuaq. Dinner at Sillisit sheep farm should be ordered in advance.

Difficulty

The hikes between the hostels/farms are easy and follow gravel roads. The longest is about 15 km. Your luggage is transported by car or boat.

Price

Sleeping bag accommodation in 4-bed rooms

£650 per person

Price includes

- All accommodations in Greenland
- Transport of luggage in Greenland
- All boat transfers in Greenland

Price Excludes

- Flights/ Flight to Iceland cost around £85 and from Iceland to Greenland £609
- Food and drinks
- 2 nights' accommodation in Reykjavik (Iceland)
- Transfers in Iceland

Recommended Flights

Flight to Reykjavik cost around £85

Outbound

Fri, 28 Jun 2019

all times are local

easyJet EZY2295

06:30 LTN London Luton

08:35 KEF Reykjavik Keflavik

Arrives: Fri, 28 Jun 2019 Journey duration: 3h 05

Return

Sun, 7 Jul 2019

easyJet EZY2296

09:30 KEF Reykjavik Keflavik

13:25 LTN London Luton

Arrives: Sun, 7 Jul 2019 Journey duration: 2h 55

When you arrive in Iceland from Europe, you land in Keflavik International Airport, which is about 50 km away from the city of Reykjavik. However, the flight with Air Iceland to Greenland leaves from Reykjavik Domestic Airport, which is located within the city limits (close to the bus terminal).

Flight to Greenland from Iceland/ From Domestic Airport

Check www.skyscanner.net

Outbound cost around £609

Sat, 29 Jun 2019

all times are local

Air Iceland NY465

11:15 RKV Reykjavik Domestic

11:35 UAK Narsarsuaq

Arrives: Sat, 29 Jun 2019 Journey duration: 2h 20

Return

Sat, 6 Jul 2019

Air Iceland NY466
12:20 UAK Narsarsuaq
16:45 RKV Reykjavik Domestic

Arrives: Sat, 6 Jul 2019 Journey duration: 2h 25

